

Artists, Naturalists and Concerned Citizens come together for a Winter Celebration of Pure Water in the Central Catskills

February 11-13, 2011

For Release 1/25/11

SnowFlow is a collaborative event between several organizations interested in creativity, sustainability and organizational awareness. Our shared concerns regarding environmental issues and the increased frequency of global catastrophes have focused our efforts into establishing ongoing projects that raise public awareness and bring together artists, activists, naturalists and concerned citizens to inform, support and energize participants into making a difference. The main initiative for SnowFlow is to bridge water rights activism between the Hudson and Delaware River Valleys in relation to natural gas extraction, hydraulic fracturing, peak water and the foodshed.

SnowFlow will be held the weekend of February 11-13, 2011 at the Full Moon Resort located within the Catskill State Park and Forest Preserve. This region serves as both the main contributor to the New York City watershed and as the headwaters to the Delaware River, recently declared the "Nation's Most Endangered River."

Saturday will feature outdoor activities, art, music and constructive dialogues to produce and document a variety of works focused on water in its most crystallized form – Snow! Events will be broadcast live on free103point9's WGXC. During the day, SnowFlow-ers will cascade down the slopes of nearby Belleayre Mountain and engage in parallel artistic interventions and snow shelter building competitions at the Full Moon Resort. The festivities will continue into the evening with a regional Catskill foodshed specialties dinner followed by musical performances curated by Electronic Music Foundation and ISSUE Project Room and featuring Pauline Oliveros, Miguel Frascioni, Suzanne Thorpe and Tianna Kennedy with Hannah Marcus.

Green Bus Tour will be providing transportation to and from New York City.

For participating organizations, registration information and the schedule of events, please visit SnowFlow.org and for further information, contact Andrea Reynosa at AREynosa@SkyDogProjects.com or 845-252-3518.
